MOREE SHOW

Celebrating 125 years

A DATE has been set and tickets are now on sale for the Moree Show 125th anniversary dinner.

The black tie event will include dinner and music by Simple Triple, and then later guests can dance the night away to duo Green Limousine.

A drawcard for the evening will be an appearance by Murray Hartin, who has had a long affiliation with the show.

He will act as master of ceremonies on the evening.

A showcase of memorabilia will also be on display.

The show committee is working hard to gather items and are also busy putting together a book to commemorate the occasion.

The book will include a history of the show along with photos and personal memories of the show from our community members.

Residents from across the district have loaned the society their memorabilia, some dating back to the turn of the century.

"It's amazing what people have stored away in their homes, and we are still welcoming any old show memorabilia people may have hoarded away," president John Appleby said.

"This is a great opportunity to showcase our Moree history and is something for the whole community, we're urging as many people to contribute to the book as possible."

The Moree Show anniversary evening will be held September

12 at The New Max Centre's Chandelier Ballroom and tickets cost $90.

Tickets are available at Kevin Humphries' office where residents can also contact Georgina Poole or Sarah Crawford to contribute.

Mr Appleby said with our local show one of the oldest in the State, the fact that it had survived for so long was a testament to our great community.
